train to gain funding

Train to Gain is a scheme of funding by the Government that is aimed to benefit both an employee and their employer. The scheme funds a range of qualifications and is designed to enhance the employee's level of competency and confidence within their current role by developing their practical skills and knowledge.

As a result the employee will gain nationally recognised qualifications in the form of a National Vocational Qualification (NVQ) and/or Skills for Life.

The employer in return is then able to benefit from improved overall efficiency, productivity and competitiveness within their market sector.

fully-funded qualifications...

- National Vocational Qualifications (NVQ)

An NVQ is a vocational qualification that will be relevant to the learner's job role and career aspirations.

The learner will work with their Learning Advisor to produce a portfolio of evidence to support standards relevant to their job role. Support from the Learning Advisor will help the learner to develop their skills and prove their competencies.

Qube offers a wide range of NVQs, please ask your regional representative for more details of courses available in your area.
