skills for life overview

in England, 5.2 million adults have difficulties with literacy and 6.8 million have difficulties with numeracy

Evidence shows that basic literacy and numeracy skills are critically important to performance at work.

In line with vocational and higher level skills issues, employers have a key role to play in establishing opportunities through which employees can improve their literacy and numeracy skills.

We recognise there are those who may need a brush up on a few skills to achieve proficiency in areas such as:

spelling punctuation grammar

decimals
fractions percentages

There are also those who need just the support to be confident in both everyday and work skills.

Whether a learner needs support to achieve an NVQ or just wants to develop their maths and english skills, Train to Gain also provides funding for Skills for Life qualifications.

Qube can offer the following Skills for Life qualifications

- Entry Level 3, Level 1 or Level 2 - Literacy
- Entry Level 3, Level 1 or Level 2 - Numeracy

Better literacy and numeracy will...

- Equip employees with the skills the organisation needs them to have
- Contribute to the workforce feeling more valued and recognised
- Enable employees to have the confidence to take more responsibility
- Help to create an environment for better team working
- Give employers greater confidence so they are better able to handle changes to working practices
